NEW TELEPHONE TEST.

Conversation Carried on Between Washington and New York over the Wire.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—A successful test was made to-day of the Turnbell telephone on the United Line wire between Washington and New York. The apparatus at this end of the line was placed at Willard's Hotel. Many gentlemen interested in the subject were present and assisted in the experiment. Among those was Secretary Manning, who conversed briefly with somebody in New York. He was understood by his friend, and in turn understood the reply. A number of other gentlemen also conversed freely with persons in New York. The experience of all was uniformly favorable. All who talked against the simple diaphragm of cherry wood and listened at the peculiar receiver, bore evidence of their accuracy. The inventor, William O. Turnbell, of Baltimore, was present, also the noted Polish exile, Mixewitzky, who is engaged in introducing and developing the new telephone. The Count said he would soon converse with Cleveland, Ohio, via New York, so that New York might hear the conversation going both ways, at no distant day; also he should arrange to converse via New York and one of the Atlantic cables with London. Correspondence having the latter object in view is now on its way to England. It is thought that the Mackay-Bennett cable will be secured for the experiment. Both he and the inventor think it is as possible to talk in Washington with persons in San Francisco or London as it is with New York. The principal electrician, Mr. Rose, of New York, explained to the numerous gentlemen present the mysteries of the devices called the "transmitter" and the "receiver."

Corn for California.

KANSAS CITY, March 13.—The trans-continental freight war has opened a new market for corn from this region. Hitherto the freight rates have prevented the shipment of that cereal to distant points, but cutting now going on has caused large quantities to be sent from here to San Francisco, fifty-two carloads having been shipped to-day.

The Secretary of the Treasury has replied to the request of the Senate Committee on Commerce for the papers on file in the case of the appointment of Mr. Tinnin to succeed Mr. Morton as Surveyor of the Port of San Francisco. The Secretary's reply is the same as those recently sent to the Senate in similar cases, declining to furnish the papers. Representative Henley, who takes a great interest in Tinnin's case, says he has no doubt of his confirmation. He has talked with Senator Fair, and that gentleman says that he cannot vote for the confirmation of Tinnin.

At the Morgan sale in New York Friday Charles Crocker continued his purchase paying $690 for a jardiniere, with Webb cameo jars; $1,575 for a pair of blue finger-bowls of the same ware; $468 for eighteen Minton plates decorated by Bouillmier, and $522 for eighteen plates of the same ware.

It is reported that a syndicate has been formed to buy out the "Co-op" store in Salt Lake, to keep it from falling into the hands of trustees under the proposed Edmund's bill, and also to raise money to help in this crisis.

David S. Fisher, special agent for the Department of Justice for the examination of the accounts of federal officers of the Pacific Coast, will visit Nevada and Oregon on the completion of his labors in California.

It is stated that Mrs. Senator Miller and daughter will return to Washington in a few weeks and arrange for the sale of the lease of their residence. They will probably spend the summer at Napa.

An unsuccessful search is being made for George Q. Cannon, who is thought to have jumped his bail.

THE POSTAL SERVICE.

How it is Being Injured by the Economy of Vilas.

CHICAGO, March 15.—The Inter-Ocean's Washington special says: In his report Postmaster-General Vilas stated that the mail facilities between the United States and ports of Central and South America were "fully adequate" to the demands of business and that no complaints have been made by those who use these mails. A letter has been received from a merchant in Quebec inquiring why there are no mails between the United States and Venezuela. He says that on the 7th of October he wrote to a firm of exporters at Maracaibo, Venezuela, inclosing a draft for $750 and an order for coffee to the amount. He had been in the habit of sending such orders with drafts inclosed, and they have never been more than fifteen days in transit between Quebec and Maracaibo, but that letter did not reach its destination until the 4th of February. In the mean time the price of coffee had advanced and he was compelled to suffer a loss of over $900. The reply to this letter, which was brought back by the steamer of Boulton, Bliss & Dollet, was only sixteen days between Maracaibo and Quebec, and at the time it was written, February 5th, his agents had not received a letter mailed at Quebec on the 17th of October. He says that he will be compelled to send his mail hereafter by way of England, by which route letters will be sure to reach Venezuela in thirty days, instead of requiring four months if sent through the United States mail. The United States, it should be understood, is under treaty obligations to take the Canadian mails to Venezuela.

A letter received from Panama within the past few days makes a similar complaint. On the 24th of February letters mailed in New York on the 20th of January were received, when they formerly required but nine days to make the transit by the Pacific Mail steamers. It is said that people never know nowadays when to expect mails at Panama. Sometimes they are sent from New York by a British tramp steamer by way of Jamaica, while at others they come via New Orleans on the little steamer Lucy Miller, which makes the trip once a month. Very frequently letters from New York have been forty days en route to Panama. The last arrival of the Lucy Miller at Aspinwall was on the 14th of February. She brought a bag of second-class mail matter, papers and packages, but no letters whatever. The local papers at Panama, both Spanish and English, express the most contemptuous opinions of the Government of the United States, and one of them says that it scarcely seems possible that so great and progressive a nation should show so little regard to the commercial necessities of the two continents.

Lured From Home.

NEW YORK, March 15.—The Tribune's Slatonington, (Pa.), special of March 14th says: For several weeks two elderly men, representing themselves as Mormon missionaries, have been traveling about Berks, Lehigh, Northampton and Carbon counties. They persuaded seven young women, daughters of respectable farmers, to embrace the Mormon faith. These they took to New York, under the plea that they would meet others here to accompany them on their Western trip. The young women never got further than New York, as their guardians proved to be agents of disorderly houses. Four of the young women returned to their homes, while three still remain in New York.

Lieutenant Greely.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Lieutenant A. W. Greely, the Arctic explorer, submitted to a severe surgical operation yesterday. It consisted of severing the nerves and separating the flesh and muscles from the base of the spine. It is hoped that the operation will destroy the acute neuralgia from which he has been a constant sufferer since his return from the polar regions. Should it fail to have the desired effect, he will be compelled to undergo the searing of the spine with a red-hot iron, an operation similar to that which Clara Morris underwent in Paris a few years ago.

DEMOCRATIC DISCORD.

Likely to Prevent Congress From Doing Anything.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—That the present Democratic House of Representatives is destined to end the session without having done much of anything, has been plain to most people for some time, and while the prospect for a long session is bright, it is now certain that nothing besides general appropriation bills will be passed. The Daily Post, the organ of the Administration in this city, says as much in a long editorial in to-day's issue. In the course of the article the Post says: "Congress has been in working order more than two months and the relations known to exist between the President and the Democratic members, together with the disagreements of the latter among themselves, seem to make it impossible, leaving out entirely the Senate, to hope for any action by the House and President, other than the passage of the usual appropriation bills. The Democratic party is not agreed to-day upon any matter in which the people of this country take a rational interest. On all leading questions, the currency, the legal tender coinage, the methods of enforcing the civil service law, the internal revenue, the tariff and inter-State commerce, there is a minority more or less strong and zealous, sometimes supported and sometimes opposed, by the President, in open antagonism to the great majority of the party. To this absence of harmony, this failure to agree about anything, and the utter hopelessness of the party arising therefrom to move in any direction, are directly chargeable the discontent which now exists."

rement of Gen. Pope.

Monday, Major-General John Pope was retired from the command of the Division of the Pacific and from the military service in which he has been, as cadet and army officer, for nearly a half century. He was born March 16, 1822, in Louisville, Ky. His family removed to Illinois, from which State he was appointed to the West Point Military Academy. He graduated in the class of 1842, being brevetted Second Lieutenant of Topographical Engineers on July 1, 1842.

Briefly, his military career has been as follows: He was commissioned Second Lieutenant on May 9, 1846, having in the meantime been engaged upon Government survey work. He served with distinction in the Mexican war, being brevetted First Lieutenant for gallant conduct at Monterey and Captain for distinguishing himself at Buena Vista. After the war he resumed his engineering and survey work, continuing it until 1859, serving in parts of the Northwest as well as in Mexico. He received his commission as Captain of Topographical Engineers, July 1, 1858. May 17, 1861, he was appointed Brigadier-General of Volunteers, and in the same year performed important services in the South. He was given the command of the army of the Mississippi, and in March, 1862, captured New Madrid, Mo., with large military supplies. In the same month he was promoted to be Major-General of Volunteers, captured Island No. 10 in Mississippi in April, and uniting with Gen. Halleck, participated in the advance upon Corinth. Being transferred to the East, he was made Brigadier-General in the Regular Army, July 13, 1862, given command of the Army of Virginia, and upon August 29th and 30th, fought the second battle of Manassas, Chantilly following upon September 1st.

In October, 1862, he became a Major-General, and a year later took command of the Division of the Pacific.

The New York "Herald."

NEW YORK, March 14.—The Star says: John Russell Young and J. W. Mackay sailed for Europe yesterday on the Aurania. They have been a great deal together of late, and the facts that Young is known to have had an editorial eye on the Herald for some time and that Mackay holds a large mortgage on the Herald property suggest a conference in Paris with Bennett and a needed change in the control of the journal. Bennett may be expected home within two or three weeks.

The Chinese Exodus.

"Seven hundred boycotted Chinamen are off to Mexico," said a gentleman well versed in Chinese matters to a Chronicle reporter last Sunday evening. "You see," he continued, "this exodus is in pursuance of the commercial arrangement which I understand was signed three weeks ago between the Chinese and the Mexican Government. You know a company has been formed for the purpose of conveying some 60,000 coolies to Mexico. How are they to be utilized? Principally in developing the Government mines. They are each to receive a patch 250 acres from the Mexican Government. Oh, yes; the Chinese are interested in the scheme—some six Chinese firms in all, I think. President Diaz and a number of Mexicans are also in the company.

"They have chartered a number of steamers and are building others. Some of the Celestial immigrants are to be taken from California. The majority, however, are to be exported direct from the Flowery land. Mazatlan is their destination."

THE CURRENCY MONOPOLY.

S. F. Chronicle.

The accumulated wealth of the United States at the present time is over $5,000,000,000 and the daily addition thereto is $1,000,000. The annual production of all kinds amounted to $10,000,000,000 in the year 1880. Our population is increasing at present at the rate of about 1,000,000 per annum. Now, the proposition is self-evident that the volume of currency required by this nation to make the exchanges the values necessitated in producing and handling this vast amount of property is proportioned to that amount and to the number of persons engaged in making those exchanges and their facilities for effecting them rapidly by railroad, steamships, telegraphs, etc. What the ratio between volume of currency and the amount of property exchanged should be or what the per capita ratio should be, are unknown, and, indeed, cannot be definitely fixed or ascertained, because they vary with circumstances. Prices fluctuate as the relations change between supply and demand, and these relations are subject to various influence which cannot always be foreseen and provided for human sagacity. But the fact is patent to all that more currency is needed by the people at one time than another, and that when money is abundant and the demand therefor by all classes is fully supplied there is constant activity in all branches of industry and commerce, and general prosperity and happiness prevail in the land.

Fourteen hundred millions of property and one million of inhabitants added to our national assets this year call for a corresponding increase in the volume of currency of the country to pay for their labor and exchange its product and to effect all desired exchanges in the newly accumulated wealth above mentioned. How much currency would be required to supply this demand? We can only judge by comparison. California has about 1,400,000 of inhabitants. If each one (including women, children and idlers) had $1,400 capital, and the labor of one-half of them was employed in producing more wealth, we can see that many millions of dollars in currency would be required to do the business among them. This amount, then, whatever it is, should be regularly added every year to a full supply of currency by our National Government.

The present stagnant condition of trade and the productive industries establishes the fact conclusively that there is now a scarcity of money in circulation among the people, though there are hundreds of millions lying idle in the national treasury, the banks and the safes of capitalists, as every one knows. As wealth accumulates and population increases the scarcity grows more stringent, for the Government policy has been for years, and still is, to contract the volume of the circulating medium instead of increasing it as the demand increases annually. And the effect of this policy is to diminish the volume of currency in circulation still further by unsetting prices, disturbing trade and deranging business generally, thereby destroying confidence and causing prudent capitalists to lock up their money in idleness to guard against its loss in uncertain though legitimate business transactions and await the "turn of the tide."

Perhaps a more correct idea of the volume of currency that should be maintained may be derived from a comparison of the per capita ratio existing in different countries, based upon the gold and silver coin circulating in each, to each inhabitant, as follows:

|                    | Per head. |
|--------------------|-----------|
| Great Britain..... | $19 25   |
| France.....        | 38 30     |
| Spain.....         | 23 02     |
| Germany.....       | 12 06     |
| Netherlands.....   | 20 37     |
| United States..... | 13 66     |

France has nearly three times as large a volume of metallic currency as the United States, and, in spite of her heavy indebtedness, is the most prosperous nation in the world, commercially and financially. Her industry is not paralyzed as in Great Britain, Germany and this country. Her people are not forced to be idle because the capital is lacking or unwilling to employ them. We do not hear of labor strikes, and of such extreme poverty and distress of the laboring classes in that country as in others. The greater business energy of our people and the higher prices of most commodities demand a greater amount of currency per capita than is required in France, yet the short-sighted policy of our Government cramps our energies and restricts our earnings and profits by limiting us, in a parsimonious spirit, to one-third the amount of spending money the jolly but more economical Frenchman employs.

Why should there be a scarcity of money in such a country as ours? There is no natural reason for it; it is simply the result of unwise legislation. We produce both gold and silver, which form the basis of the world's circulating medium, but refuse to coin it all, as if afraid of having too much good solid money. Silver coin is the currency of three-fourths of the people of the earth, while the other fourth would use only gold if they could dictate to the rest. The minority recognizes gold as the only standard of values, though formerly they were only too glad to use both silver and gold as money, and found it difficult to get enough of it to use. The product of gold is annually decreasing, while the demand for it is increasing; yet these bigoted gold worshippers will not restore its consort to its rightful place in their affections.

But there is a reason for this which is not well understood by the people of those nations which have demonetized silver. The financial policy of their Governments is controlled by men who do not need money—men of long purses who grow richer by taking away of their fellowmen, and who have and wish to maintain a monopoly of the money of the community they live in. It is to their interest that money should be scarce and controlled by a few individuals. If gold is the only standard of values, and they have a corner in that metal, they control its price, and as a consequence the price of every commodity measured by the gold standard. They are the creditors of the majority of the people, and receive back their loans and interest in gold that becomes daily more precious, compared to the property of their less favored fellow citizens. Is it not strange that the financial policy of a nation of enlightened people, choosing their own rulers, should be dictated by bankers, money lenders and usurers, who form a very small minority of the electors of this great republic?

People complain freely of our railroad, steamboat, telegraph, gas and other great monopolies which oppress them, but the currency monopoly is a greater evil than all the others combined. Money is the blood of a nation circulating through all the arteries of trade, and, like the vital fluid of the body, gives health and vigor in proportion to the quantity and quality of the blood which is in circulation. Instead of increasing and enriching the blood of the nation, these financial doctors propose to deplete its veins still more by stopping the limited coinage of silver provided for by the Bland Act, so that their patient shall remain an invalid forever for their special benefit.

There is a simple, common-sense remedy that will restore the nation's industrial and commercial interests to a healthy condition. Coin every ounce of gold and silver bullion to be had and encourage everybody to dig for more. Add to this as much Government legal-tender paper money as may be required from time to time to meet the wants of the people for use as a circulating medium. We do not advocate the free coinage of silver merely for the benefit of the silver-mining interest of this coast, but for the more important interest of the people of the whole world, whose welfare depends upon having an ample supply of good money to keep the wheels of industry in motion and to fill the channels of trade with that current which sustains the life of nations.

The Emperor William has donated the sum of 25,000 marks to the German Teachers' Society of London. The donation was accompanied by an intimation that the same amount would be annually subscribed.

Connecticut has been in the habit of paying $200 to every newspaper reporter who wrote up the proceedings of the Legislature. Sometimes more than 20 men would receive their pay in one session.

York, $22; Boston, $24.

A lithographed supplement, printed by the San Francisco News Letter Publishing Company, is presented with the Candelaria True Fissure of the 13th.
It illustrates some of the works of the leading mine in that district and contains a birdseye view of the town.

The Board of Examiners at a recent meeting agreed to allow $50 to assist Fish Commissioner Cary in paying his expenses to the great Chicago Fish Exposition to be held next month. Mr.
Cary does not think this is enough, and probably will not go. The young fish in the hatchery back of the Arlington House are thriving nicely.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.—The following are the names of the citizens summoned by Marshal Corbett for the March term of the United States Circuit Court: L. D. Smith, A. J. Smith, Morris Ash, J. G. Laws, Ross Lewers, Henry Stephens, C. A. Bragg, D. H.
Lodge, H. P. Kraus, F. K. Campbell, Chas. Coleman, M. J. Curtis, J. E.
Fowler, W. H. Gould, D. W. O'Connor, Peter Dalton, R. L. Fulton, K. J. M.
Coates, A. M. Taylor, J. P. Pettigrew, L. Gillman, E. R. Elrod, H. H. Beece, G. F. Ford, J. T. Banning, T. Tennant, B. Ambrost, John Piper, T. E. Kelly, George J. Perkins, William Lee, Albert Looney, W. G. Orrick, L. Alexander and Greely French.

SHOCKING EXPOSURE.—A Truckee dispatch of Sunday night says: Mrs. Dennis, in a crazy fit, slipped away from her watchers to-night, and wandered around in her night-clothes and stocking-feet for nearly two hours. The Knights of Labor were in session, but at once dissolved, and over 100 men joined in the search. When found, Mrs. Dennis was half buried in a snow-bank and almost frozen. She was carried home. She was perfectly conscious when found, and begged to be let alone. It is doubtful if she survives the exposure.

STATE PRISON.—A prisoner from Eureka county, says the Free Lance, was discharged from the State Prison last week, on an order from the Judge of the Sixth Judicial District Court, a new trial having been granted him by the Supreme Court. This left him without any money, as the law does not allow anything for prisoners discharged under such circumstances. Warden Bell gave him enough money to get out of the country. There are now only 132 prisoners at the State Prison.

Last Sunday night a squaw was accidentally run over by a train on the C.
P., this side of Verdi. It was not known at the time, and three trains had passed over the body before it was discovered. Her remains were brought to Reno yesterday morning and will be interred by the county. She was first taken to Truckee, but being killed in Washoe county was returned here.

floor; no stairs to climb.

DUNHAM & KEALEY.

COLUMBUS MINING DISTRICT.—As an introduction to a four-column article on the mining outlook in the above district the Candelaria True Fissure has the following:

So much relating to our district has been published lately by papers distant from here, some of them falling short of the truth and others oversteering it into the regions of exaggeration, that it is fitting that a reliable and trustworthy account be given on the spot. To all who are contemplating coming here with a view of working for wages it may be as well to say in the outset that there are more than enough men here now to fill all the wage positions in the camp. To capitalists seeking profitable investment no fairer field can be found in the world.
There are hundreds of good prospects here that can be bought for reasonable prices, any one of which is liable to develop into a mine, and there are dozens of mines already developed that are held at prices not at all extravagant. Times here now are about as dull as they could be without a suspension of operations at the Holmes and Mount Diablo mines, but we all imagine that we can see a glimmer of silver lining of prosperity emerging from the dark clouds of adversity that have overshadowed our town for several years. Nearly all of the chlorides and prospectors are patiently waiting to see the new mill of the Candelaria Water Works and Mining Company (limited) started and tested. The machinery has all been run several times, and it has been ready for delivery for two weeks, but the transfer has been delayed, and all are anxiously awaiting the day when Candelaria will hear thirty stamps pounding away on Candelaria ore.

FRANK LESLIE'S SUNDAY MAGAZINE.— For April is an exceedingly interesting number, containing articles to please all tastes. It is especially rich in engravings from paintings and drawings, and the art lover will also find congenial matter in the sketch of Leonardo Da Vinci, with its two accompanying portraits. "The Protestant Sisterhoods of New York," will attract much attention, as it refers especially to the Sisters of St. Mary, whose Couvent of St. Gabriel at Peekskill has been much talked about recently. "Church-going in Virginia in 1765," by John S. Patton, is a local article of great antiquarian interest. There are portraits of Bishop Hannington, who is supposed to have been martyred in Africa, Archbishop Gibbons of Baltimore, the second American Cardinal, and the late Vice President Hendricks, whom Dr. Talmage eulogizes as a "Christian Politician." There are many other articles of present and future interest and the number is full of beautiful pictures which will please all, young and old.

MILITARY AFFAIRS.—The Free Lance says Adjutant-General Laughton has received from the U. S. Ordnance Department a new carriage and limber for the old howitzer which has for several months been stored on the east side of the Capitol. This piece will probably be turned over to the Carson Guard, and for the working of it a gun squad will be organized, provided this arrangement be acceptable to the company. This squad, if formed, would be under direction of a Junior Second Lieutenant whose election is authorized by law. A gauding gun of the latest and most improved pattern has been ordered for the State and is expected soon, as the shipping bills have been received. The location of this gun has not been decided upon. Battery A, of Virginia City, will doubtless ask to have it assigned to them, as they are the only organized artillery company in the State.

WHAT?—The Free Lance says the public need not be surprised to learn that the government contract to purchase the Tully block near Klein's brewery is to be annulled, and that the Opera House block is taken instead, as a site for the new government building. When Senator Fair was in Carson he promised to do all he could to secure this change, and since his arrival in Washington has written to a friend here that he has things in good shape for accomplishing this object. Those who know most of the matter say but little, but it is quite probable that the scheme will succeed.

MRS. WOODBURN'S REMAINS.—The body of Mrs. Woodburn, the wife of Congressman Woodburn, of Nevada, who died Saturday at the Columbia Hospital, Washington, has been embalmed and will be placed in the receiving vault at Mount Olivet Cemetery until it is removed to California. The remains will finally be buried at San Francisco.

TO THE LADIES OF RENO.—BUSINESS CHANCE.—Miss Sadie Sykes tenders her best thanks to the ladies of Reno and vicinity for the patronage and support they have given her for the past three years, and desires to inform them that she has this day disposed of her business to Mrs. Hessel, for whom she solicits a continuance of their kind patronage and support.

Referring to the above Mrs. Hessel respectfully solicits a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to her predecessor, and assures the ladies of Reno and vicinity that her untiring efforts will be put forth to keep the business up to its former high standard.
Her knowledge of the business, combined with the services of a first-class assistant, will insure perfect satisfaction at all times.

Reno, Nev. March 1, 1898.

G. A. R.—There will be a special meeting of O. M. Mitchell Post, G. A.
R., next Wednesday evening.
T. F. LAYCOCK, Post Commander.

One Year to the Presidency.

The Rochester (N. Y.) Herald, a Republican journal, makes the following favorable comments upon President Cleveland's administration: One year ago President Cleveland was sworn into office. One quarter of his term has already expired. He has had time to get used to his lofty place and to look calmly about him and see what the character of his work is to be. The people and the politicians have also had time to become acquainted with the President.

The former, we hardly need say, have been better satisfied than the latter.
President Cleveland has sorely disappointed the spoilsman of his own party.
They anticipated a clean sweep of the offices as soon as they should succeed in installing a Democrat in the White House. That has not followed. On the contrary, with some exceptions that cannot be defended except on the ground that the pressure from influential men of his party has been irresistible, Mr.
Cleveland has faithfully carried out his ante-election promises regarding a reform of the civil service. He has encountered opposition, obloquy, even hatred from formidable Democrats, but thus far has refused to acquiesce in the policy demanded of him. The great body of the Federal officialry of to-day is composed of Republicans. They have not been removed, because the President is on record that fidelity, efficiency and honesty in the public service should be recognized without regard for the party affiliations of the officials as citizens and individuals.

The President's administration has not passed through the year, however, untainted by scandal. The Pan-Alletric telephone relations of Attorney General Garland have seriously embarrassed the Administration and may yet lead to a break up of the Cabinet. Mr.
Cleveland, like President Grant, believes in standing by his friends. He does not accept any explanation of Mr.
Garland's conduct which would imply that the Attorney General had compromised his honor, or, if we understand him, had even been guilty of a breach of propriety. Nevertheless the Administration in this matter is on the defense before the country. In the judgment of many who have warmly supported it from the first Mr. Garland cannot with propriety hold fast to both his office and his telephone stock at the same time. Not but what public men may own stock in corporations without forfeiting the confidence of the public.
But when called upon to act in their official capacity in matters affecting the value of their own stock they should surrender either their own stock or their places. The Administration is not quite as fair and free from blemish as it would be if it were not for this unfortunate telephone business.

Another unfortunate position in which the President has been placed has grown out of the demand of the Senate for documents relating to the conduct in office of Federal officials who have been displaced. This like the telephone difficulty, is still pending, and it is yet to be seen how the Administration will extricate itself from the dilemma.

So far as its effects upon the general interests of the country are concerned President Cleveland's administration has been wise, conservative and improving. The evils prophesied by his opponents have not come to pass. The condition of the colored race in the South is no worse, if it is no better, than it was under Republican Administrations. The finances of the Government are in conservative and honest hands. There is no prospect that the rebel debt will be paid or money will be appropriated for the benefit of soldiers who fought under the Confederate flag.

President Cleveland shows a lively and intelligent interest in all movements and measures designed to enlighten and elevate his countrymen.
His personal honesty and patriotism are universally conceded. He may be somewhat deficient in tact and experience, but he at least has the sterling qualities of courage, firmness, honesty and patriotism. He has supreme influence with his own Administration.

THE NEW COMPILED LAWS.—The General Statutes of Nevada, compiled by Bally & Hammond are now being received by Secretary of State Dorman.
Thus far the supply is only sufficient to furnish cash customers with their books, but in a short time the books will be sent out to the county officers and the newspapers. In the mean time any one wishing to buy copies may obtain the same at $10 each.

It has been ascertained that the great Jumbo was still a child, the bones being still cartilaginous in parts; and the public will never know how he might have looked if he had attained his growth.
